

Dear Supporter,

The Aldine ISD Livestock Show provides Aldine ISD FFA students the opportunity to raise projects such as steers, pigs, lambs, goats, chickens, and turkeys. Raising these projects allow students to develop real world skills such as problem solving, time management, record keeping, and project management. If successful, students may qualify for the Aldine ISD Livestock Show Sale of Champions where their projects will be sold through a live auction. These funds can be used to continue the FFA student's project program to the following year and to eventually help these students fund their college education. Supporting the Aldine ISD Livestock Show is an investment in our future. Below you will find several ways that you can become a supporter of the AISD Livestock Show. Please mark any of the support opportunities below that interest you.

_____ I would like a teacher to contact me to provide more information on how to register to be a Buyer at the 2018 Aldine ISD Livestock Show Sale of Champions Auction on February 2, 2018.

_____ I would like a teacher to contact me to provide information on how I can buy a "non-sale" animal. "Non-sale" projects are animal projects raised by FFA students that, although they met all the requirements to show, were not fortunate enough to qualify for a spot in the auction. These animals are sold at prices that allow the students to recoup most of their expenses. Recommended prices are:

Steers - $3,000.00

Pigs, Lambs, and Goats - $350.00

_____ I would like a teacher to contact me to provide information on how I can donate to my local high school's Vertical Buyer Group. These groups raise money to help buy students projects at the AISD Livestock Show. Please circle the group(s) you are interested in supporting.
